Elohim: Current capacity in contention.

An historical (abbreviated) review and technical assessment.

This document is an historical literature review and analysis conducted with AI assistance. Several different AI were used in its preparation.

The goal of this analysis is to obtain an assessment of the contention capacities of the Elohim, an off world species, who have proven themselves to be the enemy of Humanity.

References and citations are not provided for this report. They would be too voluminous, and without meaning for most readers. The sources are available and easily found, though not necessarily easily understood due to centuries of obfuscation by way of inappropriate translations.

Introduction:

The Elohim are extra terrestrial beings with a many thousands of years history of interaction with humans. This history is found now encoded into our religions, and religious texts. These are not the only ancient sources for information about the Elohim.

The Elohim are also called the Annunaki, the Theoi, the Devas, and other names for 'gods'. This assessment examines all such differing names from their respective traditions and translations.

The Elohim came from off-planet. Thousands of years ago, they conquered much of humanity.

The Elohim, the conquering space aliens, were on earth in the previous descending yugas, this is to say, within the last 12,000 years of the cycle. For reference, this report uses the Yukteswar dating of the yugas, placing the time now as the 326th year of the ascending Dwapara Yuga, the Kali Yuga having been left in 1699 CE.

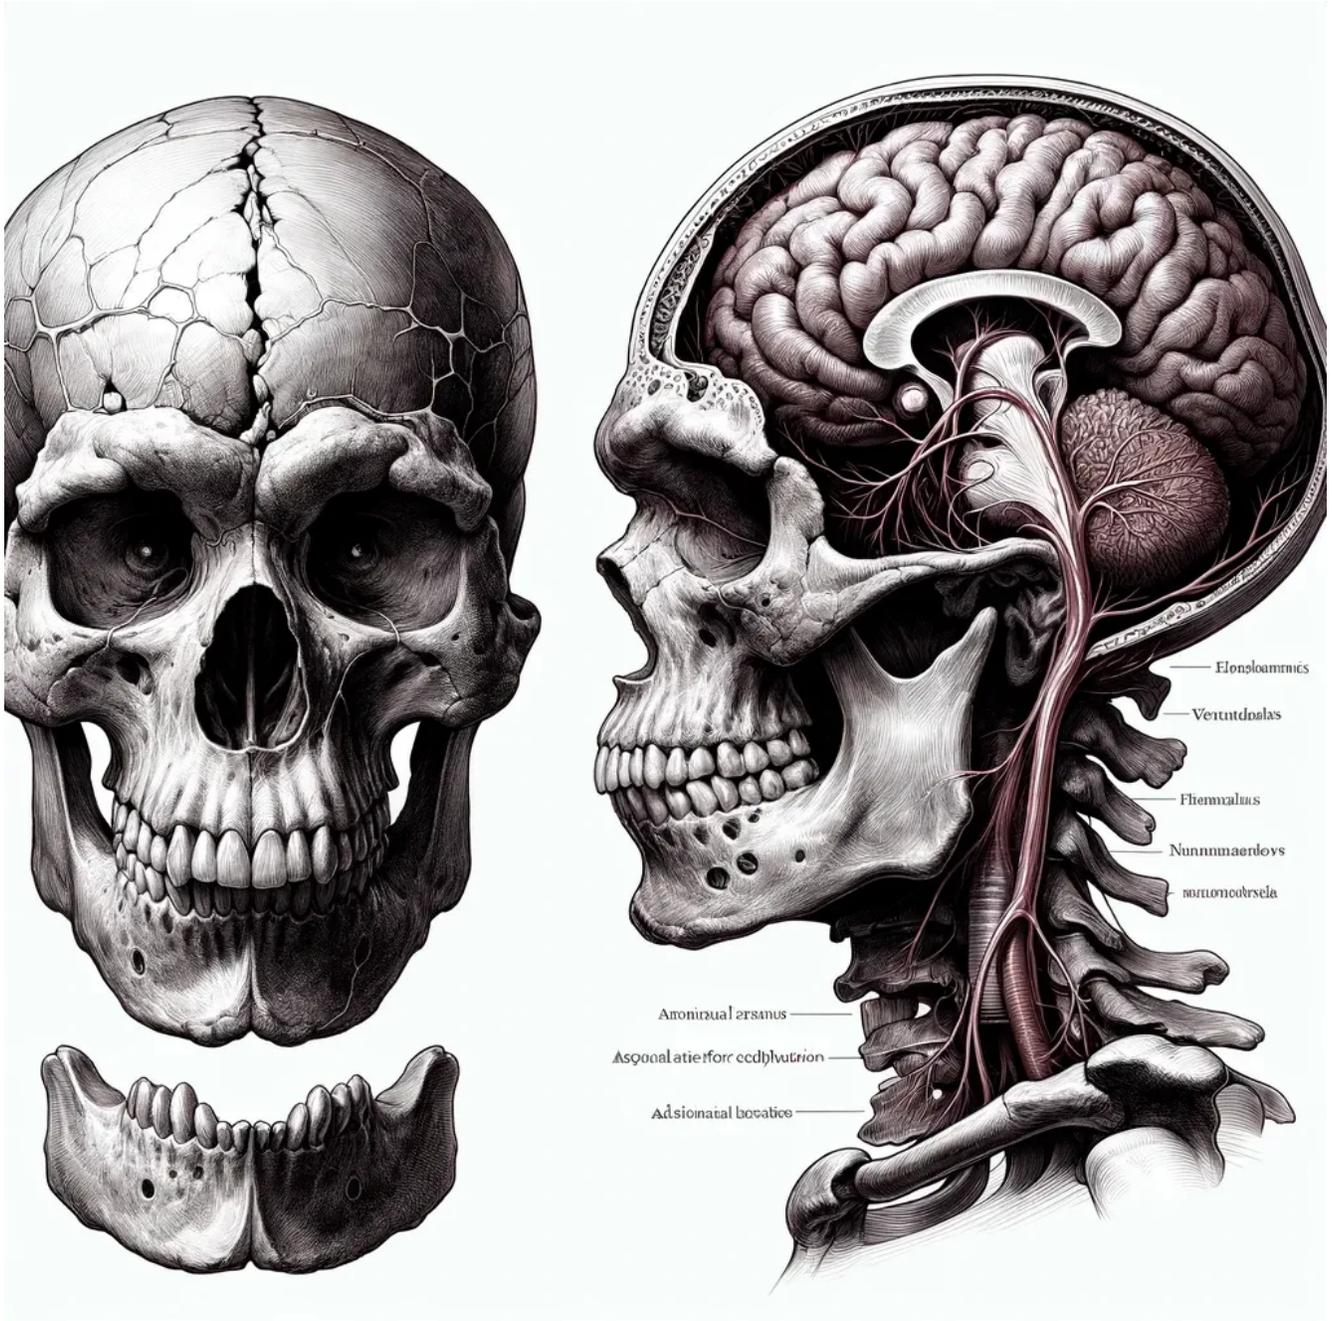

The Elohim are the 'gods' of most of the human religions. This includes Hinduism, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and several others, mostly historical religions. These are all based on the human interactions with these space originating beings.

The Elohim has been chosen as the reference name for this report as this was their most recent name historically.

Description.

The Elohim are bipedal, bilaterally symmetrical creatures. They are thus hominids. There are some reasons to think that they are reasonably close to humans in shape, though not so in bodily function, or particulars such as size, and the nature of internal organs, as well as their arrangement.

As an instance, the Elohim have large cranial structures, even larger than the homo capensis. The large cranial capacity requires a larger frame, a more sturdy, and differently arranged spinal column, as well as extra organ support such as blood pumping augmentation for both arterial, as well as venal, blood flows. The larger volume for blood flows, as well as cranial retention and pressures, requires a blood that is fundamentally different in nature than human blood. There are some literature references indicating a blood based on both iron (as with humans), and copper. These historic references would seem to indicate that the copper functions not as an oxygen transport, but rather as a hydrogen vehicle.

Life Span.

There are reasons to suspect that the blood structure of the Elohim contributes to their lifespan. The consensus from ancient literature would place the Elohim at approximately 2000 years of a natural lifespan. However, there are historically recorded descriptions of the Elohim residing in force-field constructed 'domes' of a much higher energetic frequency, as well as range of frequencies, and doing so for reasons that include life-extension. This life-extension is said to be in the range of 20,000 earth years.

This artificially increased life-span has consequences to the individual Elohim, as well as the organizational and social structures of the Elohim society in the form of individual, and collective mental illness. Some examples of the mental illnesses that do develop within the Elohim personalities are detailed below.

Risk avoidance:

A primary effect of the extremely long life of the Elohim when augmented by the force-field environment is to promote a mindset, a paradigm at a personal, and collective, strategy of risk avoidance to an extreme level.

The risk avoidance has been completely inculcated into the Elohim social order. They do not have a society, as it would be considered by human, that is, each person, to some degree, contributing to its formation, rather they have a rigid, hierarchical structure of social interactions. This is very much resembles human military forms, as ours is taken from the template imposed by the Elohim on humans of the distant past.

Some of the manifestations of the risk avoidance include extreme fears of all forms of disease induced by external organisms. The Elohim allocate disproportionate amounts of social energy into antibiotic, and antifungal efforts, both individually, and in all collective capacities.

The risk avoidance of microbiological infection can be seen as a dominating factor in the expression of the Elohim social order. Both as individuals, and collectively, they have significant levels of continuous fear states, when not within their force-field covered residence.

The risk avoidance domination of the paradigm of the Elohim is being investigated as a separate body of work as it offers many opportunities for strategy and tactics against this species.

Diminished capacity:

The long-lived nature of the Elohim, especially as it is augmented with the force-field bubbles in which they live, provides clues to their diminished mental capacities.

The Elohim are not creative. Historical references would lead us to think that the Elohim technical prowess is fundamentally based on stolen, appropriated, or discovered technology.

The diminished capacity for creative thought within the Elohim social order has led to the species valuing new discoveries located in other species. In other words, the Elohim are compensating for their lack of inherent creative invention ability by deliberately seeking, as a species strategy, to find new inventions within other species, current, or extinct. This has consequences that may be exploited militarily and will be explored in other work/documents.

The diminished capacity of the Elohim is multifaceted, and can be a military advantage in several areas. The Elohim individuals are not capable of emotional control. Neither are they capable of recognizing their emotional state while in it.

This species is prone to excessive drug consumption as an aspect of its mental illnesses deriving from their long lifespan. The Elohim may well become addicted to drugs in various forms, but some protective aspect, either in their force-field environment, or in their physiology prevents much in the way of body degradation from the excessive drug use.

They appear to have residual effects (hang-over) from such consumption, but these are apparent only outside the force-field containers.

The diminished capacity at individual levels, as well as collectively, within the Elohim social order, including reproduction, has led this species to collect, capture, torture, and alter, other species explicitly to be their slaves. Much of their genetic modification technology and direction of its use, results from this goal, of work/exertion avoidance which is an outgrowth of their risk avoidance mental condition.

Diseases Of the Long Lived Mind:

Temporal Disorientation Syndrome (LDS-001)

Brief Description: Difficulty in adapting to the perception of time, leading to disorientation and anxiety.

Chronic Existential Malaise (LDS-002)

Brief Description: A deep sense of weariness and lack of purpose due to the perception of an endless existence.

Memory Overload Disorder (LDS-003)

Brief Description: Cognitive overload due to the accumulation of vast amounts of memories over centuries.

Longevity-Induced Paranoia (LDS-004)

Brief Description: Excessive fear of death and disease, leading to obsessive self-preservation behaviors.

Sociocultural Detachment Disorder (LDS-005)

Brief Description: Difficulty in forming and maintaining social connections due to outliving peers and cultural changes.

Eternal Boredom Syndrome (LDS-006)

Brief Description: A state of profound boredom and lack of motivation caused by repetitive and prolonged experiences.

Technological Dependency Syndrome (LDS-007)

Brief Description: Over-reliance on technology for mental and physical health, leading to diminished natural coping abilities.

Immortality-Induced Narcissism (LDS-008)

Brief Description: Exaggerated self-importance and lack of empathy towards others, intensified by prolonged existence.

Disease State	Number Identifier	Brief Description
Temporal Disorientation Syndrome	LDS-001	Difficulty in adapting to the perception of time, leading to disorientation and anxiety.
Chronic Existential Malaise	LDS-002	A deep sense of weariness and lack of purpose due to the perception of an endless existence.
Memory Overload Disorder	LDS-003	Cognitive overload due to the accumulation of vast amounts of memories over centuries.
Longevity-Induced Paranoia	LDS-004	Excessive fear of death and disease, leading to obsessive self-preservation behaviors.
Sociocultural Detachment Disorder	LDS-005	Difficulty in forming and maintaining social connections due to outliving peers and cultural changes.
Eternal Boredom Syndrome	LDS-006	A state of profound boredom and lack of motivation caused by repetitive and prolonged experiences.
Technological Dependency Syndrome	LDS-007	Over-reliance on technology for mental and physical health, leading to diminished natural coping abilities.
Immortality-Induced Narcissism	LDS-008	Exaggerated self-importance and lack of empathy towards others, intensified by prolonged existence.

Historical basis for inter-species contention.

The Elohim have been intruding on Humanity for thousands of years. They have conquered large percentages of Earth by way of superior technology. They have genetically altered many species, including humans. This has been on-going for perhaps more than 10,000 years.

The Elohim have impressed their mental illnesses, along with their control structures over human society all around the planet. The Elohim favored warm areas to establish their force-field covered bases, so we see the historical evidence of Elohim intrusion primarily around tropical areas, on all continents. There are (apparently) historic evidence of their residence in Antarctica.

The Elohim were and are, genetically modifying humanity for their own ends. All statements as to motivation, or goals, about the work of the genetic modification program of the Elohim are speculation. It exists, there is evidence from which some conclusions may be drawn, but definitive claims as to the goals of the work are not supported.

Stockholm Syndrome Religions:

Almost all the human religions are based on the Elohim living among our ancestors. The Elohim were, and are, brutal, sadistic, and consider humanity to be their 'meat animals'. They treat humans as though we are cattle. The word 'goy' is not jewish, does not derive from any hebrew etymology, but, as with many of the words in the Torah, the word comes from the Elohim. It is the word that they used to label humans intended for consumption, either as nutrition, or as a drug, in the oxidized form of adrenaline that results from torture of the human body. This form of adrenaline is known as 'adrenochrome'. As the human is tortured, the adrenaline levels rise, more of the hormone is oxidized through use in the body, and the resultant adrenochrome is put into abdominal, and other inner visceral fats. These were consumed whole by the Elohim, or rendered down by heat into concentrated adrenochrome for inhalation by the Elohim as a form of smoking their drug.

The jews continue to use the word 'goy', and all the other words from the Elohim within their culture. More so than other human cultures, the jewish culture is entirely based on Stockholm syndrome reinforced for nearly 2000 years. The jews love and worship their abusers. Modern labeling is that the core of the jewish culture derives from Elohim worship cult practices. These are directly created by the abuse component of the treatment by the Elohim over these centuries.

Galactic Center Energies:

Much of the abuse by the Elohim was stopped by the movement of our solar system in to the rising Yugas. In this half of our approximately 26,000 year Yuga cycle, there are more, in an ever increasing manner, of the emanations of energy from galactic center around which our solar system orbits in a sinusoidal fashion. It is speculated that this aspect of our times has led to reduced contact with the Elohim as humanity changes, and has greater capacity, mental, and physical, within this part of the energetic flow into our solar system. It is also speculated that for many reasons, the Elohim do not allow themselves to be so influenced by these emanations. Further it is speculated that they are acutely aware of the energetic impacts on both humanity, and themselves.

Historical Elohim Weapons Review:

Below is a listing of the major categories of the weapons the Elohim have used on humanity in the past. These each represent a large arcana of derivative weapons, and military technologies. This listing is restricted to energy weapons in the electromagnetic spectrum, or kinetic effect weapons. Those Elohim weapons that operate in psychic frequencies are detailed in a separate compendium. Elohim defensive strategies, and devices, are explored in a separate compendium.

Energy Trident

Ancient Text/Mythology: Hindu Mythology (Trishula of Lord Shiva)

Method of Operation: Frequency Manipulation (Unknown Type)

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): India (Himalayas, Mount Kailash)

Description of Effects: Geological disruptions, molecular disintegration

Guided Energy Disc

Ancient Text/Mythology: Hindu Mythology (Sudarshana Chakra of Lord Vishnu)

Method of Operation: Autonomous Targeting with Frequency Emission

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Pan-Indian Subcontinent

Description of Effects: Precision targeting, atomic-level disintegration

Plasma Bolt Emitter

Ancient Text/Mythology: Norse Mythology (Mjölfnir of Thor)

Method of Operation: Electromagnetic Frequency Generation

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Scandinavia

Description of Effects: Atmospheric and electromagnetic phenomena, high-impact force

Cosmic Bow

Ancient Text/Mythology: Greek Mythology (Bow of Artemis)

Method of Operation: High-Tensile Frequency Vibration

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Greece

Description of Effects: High-precision projectile launching, energy-enhanced impact

Celestial Chariot

Ancient Text/Mythology: Mesopotamian Mythology (Anunnaki Vehicles)

Method of Operation: Advanced Propulsion (Unknown Frequency Manipulation)

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Mesopotamia

Description of Effects: Aerial dominance, interplanetary travel capability

Harmonic Blade

Ancient Text/Mythology: Japanese Mythology (Kusanagi-no-Tsurugi)

Method of Operation: Resonance Frequency Utilization

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Japan

Description of Effects: Vibration-induced cutting, molecular cohesion disruption

Solar Lance

Ancient Text/Mythology: Egyptian Mythology (Ra's Weapon)

Method of Operation: Solar Energy Harnessing and Frequency Conversion

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Egypt

Description of Effects: Intense heat and light emission, environmental impact

Dimensional Scepter

Ancient Text/Mythology: Aztec Mythology (Tezcatlipoca's Mirror)

Method of Operation: Unknown Frequency Manipulation, Dimensional Alteration

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Mesoamerica

Description of Effects: Reality distortion, spatial manipulation

Quantum Harp

Ancient Text/Mythology: Celtic Mythology (Dagda's Harp)

Method of Operation: Quantum Frequency Resonance

Theater of Operations (Geolocation): Celtic Regions (Ireland, Scotland)

Description of Effects: Environmental control, weather manipulation

Conclusion:

This abbreviated review of the Elohim contention capacity focuses on specific aspects, and is not a comprehensive analysis. This review is intended to highlight areas of wide ranging potential for military exploitation against the Elohim, the demonstrated (historical) enemies of Humanity.

The Elohim have historically been brutal, and murderous, to humans. The Elohim consume humans, and consider Humanity as their property, and as their source for ‘meat animals’. Humanity is the ‘herd’ for the Elohim.

This review has been released to spark discussion about our, humanity’s, adversarial relationship with the Elohim who prey upon our species. There will be more such reports as there are thousands of years of predation on Humanity by the Elohim to discuss, and analyze.

This review is released at this time due to the temporal proximate of the Elohim, and our return to active contention with this species.
