

Wall Street and FDR

By

Antony C. Sutton

- Chapter 1    Roosevelt and Delanos
- Chapter 2    Politics in the Bonding Business
- Chapter 3    FDR: International Speculator
- Chapter 4    FDR: Corporate Promoter
- Chapter 5    Making Society Work for the Few
- Chapter 6    Prelude to the New Deal
- Chapter 7    Roosevelt, Hoover, and the Trade Councils
- Chapter 8    Wall Street Buys The New Deal
- Chapter 9    FDR AND THE CORPORATE SOCIALISTS
- Chapter 10    FDR; Man on the White Horse
- Chapter 11    The Corporate Socialists at 120 Broadway, New York City
- Chapter 12    FDR and the Corporate Socialists

Appendix A

Appendix B

Selected Bibliography

Socialists on Wall Street

- Why many Wall Streeters who invested in the Bolshevik Revolution also bankrolled FDR
- The NRA: Wall Street's reward for dumping Herbert Hoover?

- The powerful men who commuted between the White House and 120 Broadway
- How Wall Street insiders turned the Federal Reserve System into a money machine for the elite
- FDR translates government contracts into personal profits: the case of the naval guns
- The international financiers who liked Mussolini and loved FDR
- Why some money men backed FDR in 1932
- The "Butler Affair": the truth about the plot to install a dictator in the White House
- How politics helped make FDR rich in the bond business
- Huey Long's prophetic warning about Bernard Baruch and other New Deal financiers
- How FDR tried to profit by hyperinflation in the Weimar Republic
- FDR's $200,000 debt to the money men
- The dime's worth of difference between corporate socialists and radical socialists
- Was FDR really the friend of the common man?
- FDR's 11 corporate directorships
- Unearthed: the 1841 NRA-like scheme written by a 19th-century cousin of FDR
- How Wall Streeters in New Deal guise helped buy off Big Labor - then used it
- The Swope Plan: blueprint for the corporate state
- FDR's vending machine interests
- The three musketeers of the NRA. Their Wall Street ties
- FDR attempts to revolutionize the construction industry. Why he failed
- FDR's scheme to profit from confiscated German patents
- How the captains of industry running the NRA punished their fellow businessmen
- Wall Street's attempt to create a private army of 500,000 men to "support the President"
- Strange facts surrounding the Warm Springs Foundation, FDR's biggest investment

Copyright ©1975 by Arlington House Publishers, New Rochelle, New York.

This work was created with the permission of Antony C. Sutton.