

O Lord God of our salvation, Son of The Living God, Who is borne by the Cherubim, being above all dominions, principalities, authorities and powers: Thou Art great and fearsome to all around Thee. Thou Art The One Who set the heavens like a vault and made the earth in Thy might; Who directs the universe in Thy wisdom. When earthquakes occur under heaven from the foundations, its pillars are unshaken. Thou speakest and the Sun does not shine. Thou didst seal the stars. Thou didst forbid the seas and dried them up. Authorities and dominions hide from Thy wrath, and the rock trembles before Thee.

Thou didst obliterate the gates of brass and demolished the bars of iron. Thou didst bind the Mighty One and smashed his vessels. By Thy Cross Thou didst cast down tyrants and drew in the Serpent with the hook of Thy humanity. Having cast him down, Thou didst bind him with hooks in the gloom of Tartarus.

As the same Lord, the Hope of those who place their confirmation on Thee, and the Wall of Might for those whose expectation is in Thee, anathematise, drive away and transform all diabolical actions and all satanic indictments, all slanders of the Adversary, and of the powers lying under this roof. Free those bearing the Sign which is awesome against demons: the Cross of Thy victory, and calling upon Thy gracious Name, from possession by him and from those wandering about under this roof.

Yea, Lord, Thou didst drive away legions of demons, and the demons and unclean spirits by which the deaf and dumb were held. These Thou commandest to depart and not to return again. Thou hast consumed all the armies of our invisible enemies, and have made wise the faithful who have known Thee. For Thou didst Say, "Behold, I give you power to trample underfoot snakes and scorpions, and all the power of enemies" (Luke 10:19).

Preserve, O Master, all who live in the house from all harm and every temptation from below, delivering them from fear of the feeble one and the arrows that fly by day, from things proceeding from the darkness and attacks by demons at midday. Let Thy servants and Thy children, delighting in Thy help, and preserved by armies of angels, faithfully sing with one accord: "The Lord is my Helper and I will not be afraid; what can man do to me?" and again, "I will fear no evil, for Thou Art with me."

As Thou Art my Confirmation, O God, Mighty Master, Prince of Peace, and Father of the age to come, for Thy Kingdom is an Eternal Kingdom, to Thee alone is the Kingdom, and the Power, and the Glory, with The Father and The Holy Spirit, now and ever and unto aeons of aeons. Amen.
